

Guardian's Dividend Interest Rate History 1959 – 2020

It's good to hear about a company's success, but what does it do for you? Since our founding in 1860, we've been dedicated to protecting individuals, their families, and businesses through two World Wars and the Great Depression. Our participating policyholders benefit directly from our success.

1984 – 2020 dividend interest rates are direct recognition rates. Rates assume no policy loans. Direct recognition takes into consideration the Guardian's interest earnings on non-loaned versus loaned assets.

The dividend interest rate is only one component of the dividend formula. Other factors are the mortality return and an expense-loading factor. A company could maintain its current interest rate and change its mortality and expense factors to vary the payable dividend. Dividends are not guaranteed. They are declared annually by Guardian's Board of Directors. The Guaranteed Cash Value Interest Rate is based on the year a policy is issued. Guarantees are based on the claims paying ability of the insurance company.
